III. DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-48 are presented for examination and are pending.

Drawings

The Examiner contends that the drawings submitted on July 30, 2003 are acceptable for examination proceedings. These are informal drawings.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC . 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefore, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claims are directed to a non-statutory subject matter, specifically, the claims are not directed towards the final result that is "useful, tangible and concrete.

(See State Street, 149 F.3d at 1373-74 USPQ2d at 1601-02).

According to the New Guidelines of October 26, 2005, which states that "A claim limited to a machine or manufacture, which has a practical application, is statutory. In most cases a claim to a specific machine or manufacture will have a practical application. See Alappat, 33 F.3d at 1544, 31 USPQ2d at 1557)...

a specific machine to produce a useful, concrete, and tangible result and State Street, 149 F.3d at 1373-74 USPQ2d at 1601-02).

The Supreme Court has repeatedly held that abstractions are not patentable. "An idea of itself is not patentable". Rubber-Tip Pencil Co. V. Howard, 20 Wall. 498, 07. Phenomena of nature, though just discovered, mental processes, abstract intellectual concepts are not patentable, as they are the basic tools of scientific and technological work Gottschalk v. Benson, 175 USPQ 673, 675 (S Ct 1972). It is a common place that laws of nature, physical phenomena, and abstract ideas are not patentable subject matter Parker v. Flook, 197 USPQ 193, 201 (S Ct 1978). A process that consists solely of the manipulation of a data structure is not concrete or tangible. See In re Warmerdam, 33 F.3d 1354, 1360, 31 USPQ2d 1754, 1759 (Fed. Cir. 1994). See also Schrader, 22 F.3d at 295, 30 USPQ2d at 1459.

Therefore, Examiner believes that the above listed claims are nonstatutory.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Dana Miloushev et al. (U.S. Publication No. 2004/0133652 A1 and Miloushev hereinafter).

Regarding Claim 1, Miloushev teaches migrating tile locks from one server to another comprising: receiving a file lock indicator from a primary server[0135]; recording the file lock indicator[0442]; and conveying the file lock indicator[0442] to an adoptive server when the primary server is unavailable[0273-0274].

Regarding Claim 2, Miloushev teaches monitoring a file lock data-store on a primary server; and retrieving a client file lock indicator from the file lock data-store when a new client file lock indicator is detected in the file lock data-store [0166].

Regarding Claim 3, Miloushev teaches monitoring a file lock data-store comprises monitoring a network file system systems monitor directory [0295].

Regarding Claim 4, Miloushev teaches recording the file lock indicator comprises copying a client file lock description file to a predetermined data-store [0077][0158][0163].

Regarding Claim 5, Miloushev teaches the file lock indicator comprises creating a tile lock record according to a client file lock description file [0362][0178][0180].

Regarding Claim 6, Miloushev teaches the file lock indicator to an adoptive server comprises placing a client file lock indicator in a tile lock data-store on an adoptive Server (Figure 23b).

according to the file lock record; and storing the client tile lock description tile in a network file system system monitor directory on an adoptive server[0082].

Regarding Claim 9, Miloushev forcing the adoptive server to recognize the conveyed file lock indicator [0442].

Regarding Claim 10, Miloushev at least one of restarting a network file system, restarting a network file system file lock manager and its associated file lock monitor and triggering a file lock recovery sequence[0049][0135].

Regarding Claims 11-48, the limitations of these claims is similar in scope to the rejected claims above and are therefore rejected as set forth above.

Other Prior Art Made of Record

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to Applicant's disclosure. U.S. patents and U.S. patent application publications will not be supplied with Office actions. Examiners advises the Applicant that the cited U.S. patents and patent application publications are available for download via the Office's PAIR. As an alternate source, all U.S. patents and patent application publications are available on the USPTO web site (www.uspto.gov), from the Office of Public Records and from commercial sources.
